With condemnation proceedings against a sizeable portion of dwellings for conditions existing such as those in the above pictures, the City of Belle Glade last night was to hear from owners of some of the buildings condemned by the city. Demolition is scheduled to begin if the condemned buildings are not up to city requirements by June 1. Pictures above show a toilet building used by multiple families, with plumbing conditions apparently almost non-existent, and in lower photo, a cracked and broken septic tank.

Belle Glade To Vote July 1 On Extension Of City Boundaries

BELLE GLADE—A referendum July 1 will decide whether the Belle Glade city limits will be extended, City Commission decided Wednesday night.

Upon presentation of a petition to extend city limits on the south side of Palm Beach Rd. east to include the property of more than 51% of the freeholders in that area, the Commission decided to let the resident freeholders there vote on the extension.

The petition was presented following action begun by Mrs. Frances Rutledge, who is one of her buildings condemned by the city to property outside the city limits. Miss Rutledge told Commissioners that she thought there had been a misunderstanding, and that buildings to be moved into the section south of Palm Beach Rd. would be repaired and renovated, and that there would be no "lookers."

Petitioners Listed

Signers of the petition asking for extension of the city limits included resident freeholders Dale Ellis, George Guerry, Jr., J. C. Frier, Hattie Lee Hart, E. Hart, and W. L. Archer, and freeholders F. O. Hobson, Elizabeth D. Hobson, M. H. Holton,

Among other actions, the Commission:

APPROVED the transfer of a beer and wine license from Tommie Williams to Elliott Hardin, at 249 SW Fifth St.

APPOINTED Junius Harris to the planning board, succeeding D. G. Herring, whose term has expired.

APPROVED the payment of $1,461.22 in bills from the gen-

OVER 50 PCT. VOTE TUESDAY

More than 50% of Palm Beach County's Democratic voters, at a higher percentage than that in the Glades, turned out Tuesday to upset Rep. B. Elliott, Pahokee, in favor of Emmett Roberts, Belle Glade, and carry the county for Leroy Collins some 3-to-1 over Acting Gov. Charley Johns.

With the prediction experts heralding a lighter vote than that of the first primary May 4, the voters shattered the prognostications and turned out in greater numbers to vote Collins and Roberts into the Democratic nominations.

Wednesday morning quarter-backing sessions by stunned Elliott supporters, who saw their man go down with 11,180 votes against Roberts' 12,544, leaned toward opinion that the Roberts campaign, conducted increasingly since before the first primary by his workers, was the major factor in his victory.

Elliott, former speaker of the House of Representatives, was running for his sixth term. Previously he had been opposed only once. Roberts is executive director of the Belle Glade Housing Authority, and was a strong campaigner for the late Gov. Dan McCarthy, who appointed him to the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control Board.

Elliott said, following the election, "It is with deep appreciation that I acknowledge the support given to me, especially in the Glades. After 10 satisfying years as your representative, I will continue to work for the Glades and for Palm Beach County in every capacity possible as a private citizen."

Roberts, in a post-election statement, said "I again assure all residents that my interest lies in representing the entire Glades section and Palm Beach County. By working together in the interests of the whole of Palm Beach County, we will end our efforts to furthering the progress of this great state."

Collins more than tripled his first primary margin over Johns, holding a big 14,314 over the incumbent's 10,937.

In the only other runoff contest in the county, Otis Farrington won out over Jake J. Watson for circuit judge, 12,135 to 9,509.

COURTHOUSE SITE SOUGHT

PAHOKEE—Taking the hint of the County Commission, which Monday advised that Glades residents get together on a site for the proposed sub-courthouse, Mayor Lewis Friend said yesterday he hopes to confer with representatives from all Glades communities soon to discuss possible sites.

Mayor Friend, Council President F. S. Parrish and Councilman R. B. Simpson appeared Monday before the commissioners and offered the second floor of Pahokee City Hall as the location for sub-courthouse offices. Belle Glade previously had offered one of the municipal buildings to the commission, at $1 per year rental.

Commissioners said the first step would have to be the decision from the Glades on one site, chosen by agreement by the cities of South Bay, Belle Glade and Pahokee, and the communities near those municipalities.

Friendly Appreciation

For every time we are cheered by the sight of the north and south ends of this Glades area getting together on a project, we are also reminded that the Glades, without losing any individuality, must continue to work closely with the coast, to make a united Palm Beach County.

This was well-expressed last week in the Delray Beach Journal, a thoughtful weekly with the improvement of Palm Beach County always in mind.

The Journal said it like this:

"FRIENDLY GESTURE"

"The visit of the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce to Delray Beach Friday was a friendly gesture which could well be repeated often by that fine group and others like it from Palm Beach County.

"Sitting down to coffee together is a pleasant way to become acquainted and to discuss problems of the locality from which the people come. And it is always interesting to know how closely the interests of one town are related to those of another.

"Palm Beach County, the second largest in area in the State, presents the greatest potential for growth. As the population of the Glades moves eastward and that of the coast to the west, there will eventually be a meeting of the two. With foresight, the people of this county can work together for improvement and advancement.

"By getting together occasionally and discussing their problems in a friendly way, much progress can be made.

"We would like to see delegations from other towns and cities visit the Chamber of Commerce coffee sessions. There is great cameraderie among people who have mutual problems and plans."

STRICTLY FOR THE BIRDS:

The bootleg fire works bill passed last week, but only after Sen. Spessard Holland introduced an amendment protecting Florida's corn farmers. The most effective known means of scaring birds away from young green corn is by shooting off firecrackers in the field — so Holland's amendment will permit the shipment of fire-works into Florida—but only for the birds.

BOOK SHELF: This is book-making time for Congressman Bob Sikes. Ever since he came to Congress in 1940, he has been making friends with hundreds of school boys and girls in his district. Many look on him as a personal friend and often write to him. When graduation time comes, Sikes' mail is flooded with invitations from these young folks. He always responds by sending a book. But this year, as the size of the list kept growing, shopping became quite a problem. Now, he works a system. All duties he has to do are checked the book lists and selects books that he thinks will be interesting to young people. When he finds one that he likes, he sometimes buys half a dozen or more copies. By the time June and graduation arrives, his shopping is done, and he has a list of books to mail them.

ALMOST RAINED OUT: Bob Norris, County Agent for Lake County, was given a "Superior Service Award" here last week by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson. Abuse program was scheduled on the grounds of the Washington Monument, but due to rain, there was no band music and the speech making was cut short. Norris, and others on the program, received a quick word from Vice President Nixon, a handshake by Benson, a fast photograph — then had to run like mad for shelter.

MORE FLOOD CONTROL: Two days of hearings were held in the House last week to receive arguments for approving the entire Florida Flood Control plan for $280 million. A large group from Florida was on hand to present statements and to show color film of some of the past flood damage throughout the area. Present were officials of the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District. The entire Congressional Delegation also went before the committee and urged approval of the program. Technical aspects of the plan were presented formally by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Nothing like sharing an episode-salt footbath to make things congenial. Shared this one with the bosses Tuesday.

Boy, did they need it! It was about 1:15 Tuesday morning when I got to work, finding about where the majority stockholders were. They had gone to Palm Beach on business, but told me it was after midnight during the working week.

I was sleepily gnawing my nails on the porch, wondering where on earth—when suddenly they arose a multiple yelp from the Bacom Point Road Canine Chorus.

The tenor started away out toward the edge of town, and the basset, baritone, and lady dogs joined in, in an increasing volume.

Never heard such a concert as that one. Then slowly the noise died, leaving only an occasional yelp, out Bacom Point way.

But suddenly the Annona Ave. Canine Chorus began to vocalize. It really sounded as though all the dogs in town were having insomnia—perhaps worrying about their bosses, too.

However, as Lisa, my basketmate, who always yaps before she sleeps, woke up and started growling, everything suddenly became clear.

Sure enough, there were the dogs, and the door, pounding the key into the lock that always sticks.

They were arguing about whether it was a mile or a mile and a quarter from John and Edna Pickett's house to the center of town.

That's where the Epsons salt footbath came in.

The bosses, taking the long way around from West Palm Beach, to avoid what purports to be Conner's Highway, had driven just long enough to run out of gas.

So they pushed the car into the Pickett's front yard and hoofed the rest of the way, not quite quietly enough to keep my doggy friends from hearing.

The bitterest blow of all came later, when it turned out the Epsons didn't wake, had been awake all the time, after their dog started barking.

The bosses have decided that the next time they run out of gas, they'll dang well bang at the nearest door, because the Epsons where it is, some barking dog will have already awakened the residents.

That evil cannot withstand spiritual understanding of God's law is the theme of the new book, "The Science of Mind," by Mary Baker Eddy.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced." Biblical selections include Christ's warning about the mental nature of evil: "For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies: These are the things which defile a man." (Matthew 15: 19, 20 to 3.)

The following passage will be among those read from "Science and Health with Keys to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Passions, selfishness, false appetites, hatred, fear, all sensuality, yield to spirituality, and the superabundance of being is on the side of God, good" (201: 9).

The Golden Text, from Romans: "Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good" (12: 21).

GROWING WITH THE GLADES

By BENJAMIN S. ROBERTS

Almost every precept of international law has been violated since World War I. One principal has survived: the inviolability of time to respect the representatives of other states there is hope for a solution to the outstanding problems between nations.

From ancient times ambassadors have been secure in their persons. As representatives of sovereigns they have the distinction of direct access to the head of state in the country to which they are accredited. Ministers, on the other hand, have direct access only to the Secretary of State or Foreign Minister and may see the chief of state only on request. Embassies and legations enjoy extra territorial privileges. They are considered to be extensions of the soil of the country represented. One might visit almost every country in the world in Washington by the expedient of stepping on the sidewalks leading to the various embassies and legations.

Some representatives have abused their diplomatic privilege. Many years ago when Great Britain had a legation instead of an embassy her Minister participated in national political discussions. He was recalled. Similarly a Latin play diplomat would not drive on the correct side of the street. After several warnings he was invited to leave the country.

That some of the rules of governing nations' mutual behavior prevail indicates that all doors are not closed for eventual settlements of outstanding problems. If Russia had held the Australian diplomats as hostages for the release of the Russians who elected to stay in Australia it could be said that the last vestige of respect for international law was gone. Russia allowed them to leave.

There was a song service led by W. L. Cunningham of Belle Glade, with special music by a former employee of the U.S. Rubber Co. in Manaus, Brazil, located 1000 miles up the Amazon in the interior of Brazil.

She told of the transportation difficulties, of her work as a photographer and liaison worker, and of many experiences during her stay in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Clem Hardy, Southern Baptist Missionaries in Manaus. She told how they gathered in orphans and built homes for them; how they managed the orphanage, how she was in charge of the mission for a time while Dr. Hardy was sick in America, and Mrs. Hardy had to be away working in another mission field.

She spoke on how the children were taught to work and display some beautiful pieces of handwork done by the girls, alligator hide work done by the boys and work done by the young children. After the program, everyone viewed pictures of the mission and examined the handwork of the children and the curio collection.

Polio Not Yet Epidemic Size

BELLE GLADE — Although the polio situation here is not as yet considered an epidemic, parents are urged to keep sharp eyes on their children's health and see a physician if symptoms warrant, according to Miss Bana Rodriguez, county health department nurse.

Miss Rodriguez said that none of the children thus far stricken had received the polio vaccine which was administered to second grade children a few weeks ago. Although no source has yet been found for the existence of polio, Miss Rodriguez said she is anxious to get the situation under control, and has reported the condition to the county sanitarian.

The newest case, Barney Richmond, 2½ year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Benny Richmond, 324 SE 1st Street, is in the polio ward of St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach with a paralytic type of polio. Although he is still in isolation, his condition is not considered critical. According to Miss Rodriguez, all immediate contacts have been given gamma globulin.

The condition of George Weitzman, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Baker, who is in the polio ward of St. Mary's Hospital, is reported to be improving. Linda Cox, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. S. Cox, is still in St. Mary's but is improving and her brother was able to return home but is still in a wheel chair and is receiving treatment at the Palm Beach Crippled Children's Clinic. The two Weitzman girls, Jeannette and Elsa, who were under observation in St. Mary's Hospital, did not have polio and have returned home.

HOSPITAL GETS APPROVAL FOR 'SERVICES RENDERED'

PAHOKEE — All too often Glades area patients are notably reticent so far as expressing opinions in writing goes. Everglades Memorial Hospital Administrator Harry Weir said this week he appreciates the response from discharged patients. For the past month, the hospital has sent out a follow-up "X-Ray Of Your Opinion," to discharged private patients, asking their comments on the stay at the hospital. Of 42 inquiries sent out, the only 12 replies have been favorable. Weir said, "The hospital wishes to thank the former patients who took time to answer our 'X-Ray,' because their comments help us improve our care. We hope we will get additional comments from other patients."

Three out of four traffic accidents involve passenger cars.
